Prakis First International Education Conference known as “Prakis –IEC,” seeks to address Educational issues within the African continent by bringing all educational stakeholders and interested communities together under one roof to discuss, brainstorm and come up with positive outcomes.

It's a known fact that African countries suffered colonialism for centuries, such as in politics, trade, culture, education, etc. For over 400 years, Africa countries were colonized by different European countries, for instance, Mozambique was colonized by Portugal, South Africa by the Netherlands and Britain, Mali by France, Libya by Italy, Burundi by Belgium, etc.

As a result, most African countries were compelled to copy their colonizers' curriculum. This practice has been a cause for African states to design their educational curriculum to please the colonizers thinking that it is the right way to participate in the global world. Though liberated, many countries in Africa have not fully decolonized their curricula.

The danger of Africa still seeking expatriates from western countries and continuing to be a consuming and not a producing continent needs to be confronted now. The educational curriculum designed to subject Africa's brilliant, and intelligent children to perpetually hunt for jobs in foreign countries while leaving our continent in shambles needs to be addressed. Furthermore, the decaying of African morals and values need to be redressed. Prakis Educational Services believe that it is high time to frontally and collectively confront the African educational, industrial, and entrepreneurial flaws through a continental platform that can ensure a continental paradigm shift in the right direction.

It is in this light that the organization decided to organize an International Education Conference in partnership with the South Africa Department of Basic Education (DBE), Pan- African Parliament, African Union Development Agency (AUDA-NEPAD), African Career Development Centre (ACDC), African Tourism Board (ATB), Achievers University, Nigeria and Revealed Word University.

This conference is the start of the annual series of PRAKIS – IEC seeking to create a platform wherein there will be an exchange of ideas, knowledge, and experiences between the education implementers, planners, designers, academics, researchers, and other stakeholders.
